

*“What are
contact lens
professional fees
for?”*

As a contact lens wearer, additional tests and measurements are done for you that are necessary to make sure your eyes are healthy, that your lenses fit properly, and to ensure that you are seeing as well as possible. Contact lens professional fees are for the extra testing and time taken by the staff and doctor each year to properly evaluate your contact lenses and eye health. In addition, this fee includes a year of follow-up care on your lenses for non-medical related visits.

Corneal Topography is one example of a test done for contact lens wearers. With this computerized data, we can detect any undesirable changes of the cornea caused by the wearing of contact lenses. A second test uses a microscope to examine the fit of your contact lens and the health of the cornea. Thirdly, prescription measurements are done which are different than those done for glasses.

*“What
additional tests
are needed?”*

“Isn't this part of my annual eye exam?”

These contact lens-related tests are done in addition to the usual eye examination tests. These are procedures that only need to be done for contact lens wearers, not for patients who don't wear contact lenses.

“How much does it cost?”

Depending on your prescription specification, the cost starts at $55+

*“Doesn't my insurance
cover contact lens
professional fees?”*

That would depend on your specific plan's coverage. Most insurance plans only cover routine eye exams which determine your glasses prescription and evaluate your eye health. Contact lens services are not considered a medical necessity and therefore are often not covered by insurance.
